HUD Announces $20 Billion Investment Milestone through RAD

The Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) has announced that the Rental Assistance Demonstration (RAD) program recently hit another significant milestone: $20 billion in total construction investment. According to the announcement, this achievement means that more than 500 public housing authorities and their partners have used RAD to preserve, modernize, or replace over 212,000 homes originally built as public housing. The RAD program has helped an estimated 577,000 low-income individuals, families, seniors, and persons with disabilities secure decent, safe, and affordable housing for the long term.
